About the Program

The Victorian Government’s Drought Support Program provides targeted support to Victorian farm businesses to increase skills and technical knowledge and to support decision-making during drought and dry seasonal conditions.

The Farming and Community Group Drought Funding Program, is delivered by Agriculture Victoria under the Victorian Government Drought Support Program and will enable farmers to better prepare, respond and build resilience to drought and dry seasonal conditions.

The Program is open to Landcare and land management groups, industry groups, farming systems groups, farming discussion groups and not for profit and community organisations in Victoria.

Preference will be given to projects that are in Wellington or East Gippsland shires, far North-West Victoria (Millewa and surrounds) and the Goulburn Murray Irrigation District (GMID).

Groups will be able to engage technical experts and/or specialists to deliver timely, relevant and appropriate technical information to assist dryland and irrigated farm businesses and landholders to plan or manage the impacts of drought and dry seasonal conditions.

Objectives

The Program will:

- Identify technical knowledge or capability gaps relating to drought and dry seasonal conditions
- Increase and strengthen farmers’ technical knowledge and capability, enabling farm businesses and landholders to be more prepared and responsive to drought and dry seasonal conditions
- Encourage farm business and landholders to share and collaborate, thereby increasing skills knowledge and capacity, preparedness and responsiveness to drought and dry seasonal conditions.

Program dates

- Grant applications will open on 13 March 2020 and close 1 April 2020 at 11:59 pm
- Activities must be completed no later than 14 June 2020
- Evaluation, expenditure report, invoices, statutory declaration and, final report must be submitted to the department no later than 21 June 2020.
Funding and technical themes

Grants of up to $25,000 (excluding GST) are available to engage technical experts and/or specialists to provide relevant and appropriate technical advice, information and support to a group of farmers or landholders to help them prepare for, respond to and manage drought and dry seasonal conditions.

This can include, but is not limited to the following technical themes:

• Irrigation and water
• Livestock management, including animal nutrition, health, feed and water budgeting
• Crop, pasture and grazing establishment and management
• Land and soil management
• Stock containment area use and management
• Whole farm and business planning
• Climate adaptation
• Other targeted themes will be considered on a case by case basis.

Project specifications

• The maximum value of funding available to eligible groups is $25,000 (excluding GST) by exception is a registered association or not for profit organisation who may auspice a project(s) on behalf of group(s)
• It is expected that applicants applying for the full value of $25,000 will be delivering multiple events and must demonstrate the value of these to the state
• Groups can apply for one or more activities per project funding application, however multiple activities should engage different target audiences or be held in different regions
• The project can complement other existing activities and services for example an existing producer group
• An activity may include (but is not limited to) technical workshops, seminars, farm field visit or information sessions
• Activities may be delivered over one or multiple days using the same service provider
• Each activity should engage a minimum of 20 farmers/landholders. Smaller groups will be considered on a case by case basis
• Activities should be made available to participants beyond the membership of an existing or ongoing group.
Applicant eligibility

Eligible Victorian groups include:

- Landcare and land management groups (for example, Landcare Network)
- Farmer discussion and producer groups
